Design the Change is a non-profit digital marketing agency focused on increasing the visibility of underrepresented non-profit organizations.

Design the Change allows organizations with little to no revenue to reach places further than they have before without having to pay astronomical prices to do so. Our diverse team consists of members specializing in web design, graphics, and marketing, all having a passion for helping organizations help their communities. Our grassroots movement keeps our prices low and also helps people form a sense of community in times where we are encouraged to stay apart. Our goal is to ensure that every non-profit has a chance to succeed in helping those who need it most.
